

I'm fully supportive of the VOOM satellite operation. There is very little competition available. In my location Rainbow is the only clear satellite and I'd be very sad to see the service go down